

ReSolve announces sale of Skills Matter

ReSolve is pleased to announce the sale of the business and assets of Skills Matter, which provided a networking platform for technology creators, adopters and companies to share the latest technology insights, experience and skills to accelerate the development of new technologies.

The Company business was sold to Quad4 Group Limited on Wednesday 22 January. Quad4 Group was formed by a group of entrepreneurs with a history in supporting technology, skills transfer and community with a mission to promote and provide world class solutions to tech professionals across the world and support learning and innovation.

A separate sale of the CodeNode division of the business took place on Wednesday 29th January. This includes a transfer of the lease to the CodeNode conference venue — the largest specialist tech conference venue in London — and sale of selected IT and AV equipment to CodeNode Space & Events, a Trifork Group company. Trifork is one of the original investors in CodeNode.

Quad4 Group CEO, Frank Rodorigo, commented:

"I am proud to be able to relaunch this important community platform and work with the Skills Matter team. I've been a longtime admirer of what they have done and I'm excited to roll up my sleeves and get to work." He added, "We don't simply want to restore this community and platform, we want to help it grow and see it flourish."

Mark Supperstone, Managing Partner, ReSolve commented:

'We are very pleased to have been able to secure a sale of the business and assets of Skills Matter. The company was very well-respected and it is particularly pleasing that the technology community will continue to be supported by the new purchasers.'

About CodeNode:

CodeNode, UK's largest venue dedicated to technology events, is situated in the heart of the City of London. The venue provides 23,000 square feet of space and has an impressive history of hosting events for startups, developer groups and companies like Microsoft and IBM. With its recent reopening, Trifork, an original cofounder of CodeNode, intends to further develop the space as a multi-purpose tech hub focused on fintech, one of its core business areas, and will use the space to showcase its capabilities and those of its London-based sister companies, OpenCredo and Erlang Solutions.
